OF OUR DISHES

GRAZIELLA

There is always time to recline, relax and rejoice in a story.
To stop and appreciate the details that reveal the essence of life.
The simplicity and the old ways
of doing things properly.
Take your time because it is your time after all.
Indulge in the tranquility
of a boisterous kitchen.
The crescendo of conversation rises and falls around you.
Let the food transport you, another bridge in the city
between friends and strangers alike.
The bicycles rush by
on their own journeys,
surely to return here.
They represent a simpler
mode of commuting
and the joy in that beautiful motion.
The beautiful tranquility of the streets and cooking's chaos exemplified.
Switch off and relax and be truly present, because the past and the future
are merely the ingredients of now.
Take time to speak between mouthfuls and appreciate a time when things were done just a little slower and conversation was currency.
Take time to find not just the right ingredient but the perfect one.
Those flavours in symphony that make time itself stop.
And the time taken to create
time-honoured recipes.
Take your time. To create your own story.
Because it all begins
in a place to call your own.
It all begins, once upon a dish.
